INVESTOR EVENTS 2026 · READOUT FOR THE HEAD OF IR

Contact rose after our events, mostly in line with the season; we cannot yet show they build pipeline.

$1.2M
spent on 3 events, March to June

78%
of our 60 investor firms attended (47 firms)

43% → 60%
of attending firms met, 60 days before → after (comparison firms: 26% → 41%)

55%
of committed capital is one unverified $650M deal

Three decisions before the next event budget

1 · Make events measurable, and verify the $650M deal
Today no meeting or deal can be tied to the event that drove it.

2 · Set a 30-day follow-up standard for Tier 1 firms
10 of 13 were not met within 60 days of an event; 4 with live deals still have no meeting logged.

3 · Review Berlin; test more dinners before shifting spend
Berlin cost the most ($610K) and contact fell after it, partly our follow-up; London did best, on a small sample.

Data as of 14 Oct 2026 · 60-day follow-up window · attended = any contact Confirmed · full detail in the interactive dashboard

Only London beat the season on contact, on a small sample. New pipeline did not rise.

1 · WHAT HAPPENED

More firms were met after events, but only London beat the time of year

London: meetings with firms that attended, 60 days before → after

+158% (12 → 31)

Comparison group: firms at another event, none of their own within 60 days

+33% (6 → 8)

London’s comparison group is 9 firms and the gap shows at the 60-day window only. All three events together: +54% vs +62%, about what the season alone produces.

Tier 1 firms not yet met after an event they attended

11 of 13	10 of 13	4 of 13
after 30 days	after 60 days	after 90 days

2 · WHAT IT LED TO

New deals did not rise more than for other firms, and did not close more often

Share of firms opening a new deal, change from before to after

Firms that attended

+6 pts (27% → 33%)

Firms at other events, same dates

+11 pts (32% → 44%)

Deals of similar age (4 to 8 months old) that have committed

Opened after an event

13% (2 of 16)

Already in progress before the firm’s first event

19% (3 of 16)

Caveats: 3 events · invitees pre-selected · meetings logged only for attendees · 95% ranges include zero

Act on the follow-up gap now; measure the next event properly.

THIS WEEK

Confirm in the CRM, then call: Tier 1 firms with a live deal and no meeting logged since their event

Firm	Type	Attended	Deal at	Target	Last met
Firm 45	Insurance	NY	IC	$76.5M	Never
Firm 22	Foundation	All three	Diligence	$50M	9 Mar
Firm 44	Insurance	NY, Berlin	IC	$40M	17 May
Firm 26	Foundation	Berlin	IC	$40M	9 Jun

Across all tiers, 14 firms have no meeting logged since their event; 12 have live deals worth $707M. Check the CRM first: 4 of 37 attending firms whose deals progressed have no meetings logged at all, Firm 45 among them. Another 10 firms were met, but after 60 days.

BEFORE THE NEXT EVENT

So next year we can tell if it worked

- Tag each new deal with its source event
- Log meetings for every firm, not just attendees
- Record actual attendance, not RSVPs
- Compare invitees with similar non-invitees
- Pilot two more dinners; review Berlin and its follow-up
- Verify the $650M deal before quoting totals
